OUTFITS ARE NOT PROVIDED BUT CAN BE RENTED FOR THE SHOOT- IF YOU ARE RENTING AN OUTFIT, PLEASE CHOOSE A COLOURLESS CAKE.

Before the shoot

In some cases, babies do not like to get their hands dirty and are not used to having the creamy texture on their fingertips; so will avoid and cry touching the cake – and in some cases will refuse to. A great way to combat this is to let them play in mashed potatoes the week before your session. Get them used to that gooey texture! Why mashed potatoes? It's about as close to the consistency as cake icing as you can get!

Prepping your baby on arrival

When you arrive, it is recommended to change your baby's nappy on arrival so it's nice and flat for the photos. We provide a changing mat and give you time to get ready. At this point you can dress your baby and get ready while we prep your cake.

Thinking about the time of day

Avoid nap time. I know this is hard but one of the biggest things we notice with our very occasional unsuccessful cake smashes is normally due to skipping nap time to come to a shoot. Mixed with a hit of sugar we find they become very irritable and restless.

To eat or not to eat?

It's fine to come before or after a light breakfast or lunch. Sometimes when they are too hungry and it's not what they were expecting it can go down like a burst balloon. A neutral tummy, not too hungry not too full always works best.

What about the mess?

Don't worry we provide warm water and flannels to help you clean your little one afterwards. What's even better, we clean up all the mess too! You will get messy too, therefore please be prepared to get your hands dirty. We may need you to go onto the set to help encourage your little one to play or comfort them.

Have fun!

The most important thing to remember when preparing for a cake smash photoshoot is to relax and have fun. The goal is to capture your baby's joy and excitement as they dive into their cake, so don't worry about making everything perfect. Infact, most babies cry at some point during the session and some babies are even hesitant to touch the cake; so we need to get involved to encourage them to have a play around with it.
